FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: Bridgeway Capital names Jimmy Jackson as its Erie Office Director

Erie, Pennsylvania – November 14, 2018 – Bridgeway Capital announces that James “Jimmy” Jackson has been selected as the Director of Bridgeway Capital’s office in Erie, PA. Jimmy Jackson comes to Bridgeway from Marquette Savings’ Business Banking division, where he held the position of Assistant Vice President, Business Banking, having extensive experience with business development, relationship management and credit support.

Jimmy Jackson will lead Bridgeway’s efforts in Erie to provide flexible capital to ignite small business growth, develop communities, increase access to healthy foods, and expand social services. Since opening its Erie office in 2012, Bridgeway has invested $20.5 million in people and places in Northwestern Pennsylvania that cannot access mainstream sources of finance.

“Where others see risk, Bridgeway sees opportunity. I believe in the organization’s mission to connect opportunity with capital. I joined Bridgeway to provide funding solutions and hands-on assistance for businesses and real estate projects that become cornerstones of the community,” said Jimmy Jackson, Bridgeway Capital’s Erie Office Director.

“Jimmy knows what impact looks like in Erie. His extensive experience in banking and commitment will help create an Erie region where all can thrive. Jimmy will expand our help for businesses and communities to pursue new opportunities for growth,” said Mark Peterson, Bridgeway Capital’s President and CEO.

Jimmy Jackson holds degrees in business administration with concentrations in management and finance from Mercyhurst College and a Masters of Business Administration from Penn State Erie, The Behrend College. A lifelong resident of Erie, he is active in his church community. He has held leadership positions on boards and committees, including his previous appointment as President of the Redevelopment Authority of the City of Erie.
